Tides from the United States Coast and coeffice Survey tables:
The tides at Kaholui and Hilo occur able in the arrangements that are believed to the hour carlier than at Honolulu. Hawaiian standard time is '3 hours 25 minutes slower than Greenwich time, her in that of the meridian if 157 degrees 26 ed upon. The sport of yachting is championed by the smaller boats, which are no mean sallers themselves, and it is they who form the majority and are practically the backbone of the sport. It is all right to have one or two crack boats to receive all the newspaper attention, etc., but what would yachting amount to in Honolulu as a sport were it not for the fleet of small boats comprising the second, and more especially, the third and fourth classes? In the races arranged for the Fourth the boats of the latter three classes are all on an equality. It costs just as much to get one class ready for the race as another and they will all sail over the same course, starting with a short interval of time be tween each class, and there should not only be less of a distinction made between these three classes and the first class in awarding prizes, but larger prizes than have been named should be offered. It is suggested that a prize ment, due April 1st. 1909, delinquent of $50 for the first class and $40 each for the other three classes would be a more appropriate division, making a more appropriate division, making a total, including an expense of $10 for placing stake-boats, of $180.

The yachtsmen have done all in their power to make an interesting program of races; the Literary Committee has reported that their expenses will amount to some $125; it is not thought that the fireworks and other events will require an exceedingly amount, and the Fourth of July Committee can surely appropriate at least $180 or even $200 in prizes for the

It is hoped that the Committee will be liberal and not be behind the yachtsmen themselves in furthering a suceasful vacht-racing program, and give the small boats an equal chance with the large ones.

THE QUEEN'S GOOD HEALTH. Rules About Eating-Follow Your Instincts.

LONDON, May 26.-The Queen was 81 ears old on Thursday, and is well and earty. In spite of her great age it is a commonplace in medical circles that her life is even now a better one from an insurance point of view than that of the Prince of Wales. It is true that she looks very old and very bent. No one who has seen her lately could think for moment that she was younger than her actual age. Yet her health is good, her vitality is wonderful, and her mind as keen and vigorous as ever. Of course, this is due to a great extent to her naturally splendid constitution. Until she was shaken by the death of the prince consort, permanent good health seemed with the Quien to be a matter of course. After that date she gave car to the doctors. For many years she has I ved according to a few simple rules laid down for her by the late Sir William Jenner. About these rules there is nothing clab orate. A simple and careful diet, regularity and plenty of open-air life are the chief essentials. These three rules the Queen has observed strictly, the last one indeed for a time sher after oversheeryed. Practically no weather could preven her from taking her long drives in an open carriage, and the royal doctors received many a fright or her account. A last, however, she received a fright herself a few years ago, and since then she her actual age. Yet her health is good, act, however, the received a tright herself a few years ago, and since then she has been more careful.

The royal doctors, therefore, 1230 dispovered no great scoret for the benefit of heir august patient. Sir Francis Lakng, one of the most eminent of them,

This is especially notice able in the arrangements that are being made towards giving prizes for the four yacht races that have been decided ed upon. It has been stated that the prizes will be $50 for the first class and $750.00 for any classes respectively, making a total of $115 subscribed by the Fourth of July Committee.
